

History of stakeholder feedback activities: CEPH criteria revision

- March-May 2014: CEPH sought general feedback about what to consider in this revision process through a web-based survey. We received 104 responses.
- November 2014: CEPH held a technical assistance session at the APHA Annual Meeting about the changes occurring in higher education and how these impact public health education and the new criteria.
- February 2015: CEPH released a first draft of criteria related to curriculum for public comment.
- June 2015: CEPH released additional draft materials relating to curricula for degrees other than the MPH, DrPH and bachelor's degree in public health for public comment.
- Spring – Fall 2015: CEPH made web-based or in-person presentations and answered stakeholder questions for all groups requesting such sessions. Stakeholders hosting presentations included the following:
  - Association of Schools and Programs in Public Health
  - Association for Prevention Teaching and Research Council of Graduate Programs
  - Council on Linkages Between Academia and Public Health
  - Executive Board of the Association for Accredited Public Health Programs
  - Association of University Programs in Health Administration
- October 2015: CEPH considered more than 250 individual comments from more than 20 individuals and organizations and revised the draft curricular criteria to reflect comments.
- November 2015: CEPH hosted a panel of employers and preceptors at the APHA Annual Meeting and sought their perspectives on proposed criteria revisions.
- November 2015: CEPH released a full set of draft criteria, including an updated version of criteria on curriculum.
- January 2016: CEPH considered more than 300 comments from more than 40 individuals and organizations and revised the draft criteria to reflect comments.
- February 2016: CEPH released an updated set of draft criteria for comment.
- June 2016: CEPH considered more than 140 comments from more than 25 individuals and organizations and revised the draft criteria to reflect comments.
- June 2016: CEPH released an updated set of draft criteria for comment.
- October 2016: CEPH considered more than 150 comments from more than 35 individuals and organizations, revised the draft criteria to reflect comments and adopted a final version of the amended criteria. CEPH also adopted an implementation plan for use of the amended criteria.